PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am an experienced healthcare assistant with a passion for the healthcare industry. I have stellar organizational, interpersonal, communication, emergency response and patient management skills, demonstrated by my various responsibilities in reputable healthcare facilities. I have a high degree of professionalism and analytical skills honed by my association with sensitive emergency departments, where critical life-saving decisions have to be made in a quick and responsible manner. My association with the ambulance crew has allowed me to learn various methods to manage trauma and critically ill patients at the highest degree of stress, whilst my general responsibilities taught me patient management and clinic organization. My enthusiasm to take on new roles, glean the necessary knowledge and respond to situations with sound solutions, has enabled me to be associated with a diverse range of medical departments. I believe that my willingness to accept responsibility for personal development, productivity and quality of performance will provide me with the skills and wisdom to excel in the field.
