Work Experience

Philippine Army
2021-Present

Being in the army comes with expectations of doing everything. Especially in constructing building you need to be a mason and demands a lot of patience together with you co-workers. I also pick up a lot of new skills, such as cooking, among many others.

I'm a well-organized, productive, and industrious person that is open to learning and embracing novel concepts that have practical applications. I am an effective learner and listener who can interact both in a group setting and with individuals. I have the ability to inspire others and focus my abilities to achieve goals.
