Re Application for a Butcher

Good day,

I am currently looking for a job vacancy in your company which is related to my experience so I have enclosed my Curriculum Vitae/Resume herein for your better inspection.

I have working experience in meat plants in my home country Philippines as well as the United Kingdom. I have good knowledge and handling of this position. I am able to work as a derinder, whizard and meat cutter in a fast pace environment.

My dynamic personality, professional experience qualifies me as a strong candidate for the position that is suited to my field and I am so confident that I could make a great contribution to the success of your company. An established and progressing company of your status will surely be hiring efficient and hardworking people in the company to maintain a stellar position in the industry and I would be pleased to get an opportunity to show you what I have accomplished during my prior work experience. My degree of motivation has been recognized and has been beneficial to organization that have trusted my skills. With your growing success and passion for excellence, I know that this career change will be a great professional opportunity for me. My background experience has enabled me to provide the essential level of service in a courteous, professional and in efficient manner. I am certainly dedicated to my work and can even work under stressful and critical situations. I am also creative and can work with minimum supervision. I am teachable and capable of learning quickly and effectively. Moreover, I am a Team Player with value service awareness, not to mention my optimistic drive to produce results.

I find it a pleasure to further discuss my qualifications with your good office, especially the kind of contribution that I can give to your company.

Please see my Curriculum Vitae for additional information on my experience. I am available anytime and can be reached for my contact details as mentioned above.

I wish to meet you in person and look forward for your positive reply.

Thank you very much and more power!!
